Care for stressed skin

The skin is the largest and one of the most complicated organs in the human body. Bacteria, viruses and fungi can be found everywhere in the environment and also live on our skin. Most of these microorganisms are harmless to us; some, however, can make us sick when entering our body. Skin damages are one of the many gateways for pathogens to the human body. Therefore, it is crucial to take care of and protect the skin.

WEICON Hand Protective Foam provides temporary protection against aggressive sea and industrial environments, chemicals, solvents, alkalis, acids, salts, cleaning agents, oils, greases, cement, mortar, varnishes, adhesives or longer contact with aqueous media.
